This is a 2-D, sidescrolling, beat'em up. You are a person in a bar and someone comes to mess you up, but you can mess them up. The pixel art isn't anything special and it reminds me of a really low quality version of the pixel art of a game called (Uncanny Vally).

The music is loud, repetative and annoying. The fighting consists of a few things: throwing object, punching with or without objects in your hands (one button punching). You also have an ultimate ability that you need to recharge by punching enemys and this spawns 4 swat people that shot to kill every enemy on the screen and then they're gone again. There is no story. This game has badges. (It also stopped sending enemys in the end of the bar so I could not get on with it, because it also did not allow me to do anything on that screen).

If you like pixel art beat'em ups and you wanna play something bad, then this game might be something for you. Have fun, enjoy and drinks are on the house :). Dafuq is this pixel art?

No concept, no story, nothing. You just spam LMB to an endless wave of pixellated enemies, without knowing what is going on.

I played for 3 minutes then came here to write this review, only to discover that I have to endure it 2 more minute to be able to write a review!

Bought it on sale for about 30 cents, it is still a rip off.
